Composer Notes

Draw Near in Faith

This short communion anthem may be sung as the priest and eucharistic ministers receive communion before distribution to the people. The introduction is optional, and the piece may be sung unaccompanied. Keyboard may double the choral parts as desired; on organ, play with manuals only. A solo instrument may play the melody.

You, O Lord, You Are Close

This prayerful chorus is written in the style of a Taizé mantra. Sing during services of meditation, during Lent, reconciliation services, as a meditation after communion, as a prelude to mass, or any time of reflection – especially as a call to prayer.

As the song begins, repeat the ostinato refrain until the assembly is comfortable singing it on their own, with the support of the choral or keyboard harmony. The cantor then sings the verses while the assembly continues to sing the refrain, which should be repeated between verses as on the recording. You might like to begin or end by humming the refrain. Solo instruments may play instead of, or alternating with, the cantor. Verses from Psalms 119, 31, and 145 are provided. Feel free to add your own verses.
