Performance Notes

The symbol of light has always been powerful to me, and the theme of light has been present in much of my music. From the radiance of warmth that often accompanies healing touch to the “light” that is often spoken of by those who have had near-death experiences, there is no doubt that Christ comes to us as “light” in many ways. I was commissioned to write this song for the dedication of the Healing Light stained-glass window that graces the entrance concourse of St. Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis, Indiana. It is with gratitude that I dedicate it to the Daughters of Charity and their mission of healing throughout the world. This hymn can be led by a cantor, songleader, or choir; the refrain is easily learned by an assembly.
