Textwriter Notes

This hymn depicts the Jesus of the gospels as he continues to be for us now: gathering, healing, encouraging, finding the lost, caring for all needs without stinting. This is the self-giving Christ embodied in the Eucharist. The last lines recall that John's gospel makes no mention of the blessing of bread and wine at the Last Supper but only tells the story of the washing of the feet. Surely that summary of Christ's work for all the weak, weary, wounded and needy should remind us of the injunction that followed it: "If I, therefore, the master and teacher, have washed your feet, you ought to wash one another's feet." (John 13:14).
