Composer Notes

“Remain in me as I remain in you.” (John 15:4) So often the words “As I remain in you” are the ones emphasized in this beautiful verse. But I believe that “Remain in me” allows us to say, “Inside of you, my God,” because that is where God wants us to live and move and have our being. This hymn/mantra was born out of contemplative prayer and is an expression of intimacy with God; I invite you to sing it with a deep sense of reverence. It is, quite simply, a prayer. The instrumental interlude between the verses allows us to pause and reflect for a moment before going on to the next verse.

It can be sung by a soloist, or in two parts by an ensemble, or by an SATB choir, as a Communion hymn or Communion meditation. It also offers us the opportunity to call others to “contemplation and action,” in a quieter way, as we sing, in verse 4: “Inside of you, my God, I shall remain. Inside of you, my God, I will abide. With you in me, my God, I shall go forth...to bear good fruit inside of you.”
